

PRESIDENT BUSH

Why is mercury toxic here...

and not here?

In 1999, the United States Government realized that America's children were receiving toxic doses of mercury in their routine vaccinations. The FDA and EPA directed the drug companies to remove mercury from childhood vaccines. But the FDA never issued a recall and the shots stayed on the market, exposing children to mercury levels much higher than EPA limits. Although mercury levels were reduced in many shots after 2002, some vaccines still contain high levels of mercury. For example, a person would have to weigh 500 pounds to safely get some flu shots. In April 2005, President Bush refused to issue an Executive Order banning high amounts of mercury in vaccines, which would have protected pregnant women and children. Under his Administration's current policy, mercury will be knowingly injected into American children and pregnant women until at least 2009...maybe longer. MERCURY KILLS CELLS. MERCURY IS TOXIC.

GIVING MERCURY TO CHILDREN ON PURPOSE IS STUPID.

Call President Bush and Congress today to demand that mercury be removed from vaccines.

For information on mercury in vaccines, call the National Vaccine Information Center at 703-938-0342 or visit www.NVIC.org.
If you believe your child was injured by mercury in vaccines or to learn how you can take action, contact Unlocking Autism at 866-366-3361 or visit www.unlockingautism.org.